Reds Down Clearly-Marked U.S. Evacuation Helicopter

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today a medical evacuation helicopter was shot down in the central highlands killing seven and bringing the war's total of choppers lost in combat to 999.

The command also belatedly announced that a helicopter shot down Jan. 15 south of Da Nang killed Col. Michael M. Spark, 41, Alexandria, Va., commander of the 3rd Marine Division's 3rd Regiment. Six others, including a Marine officer, died with him in the flaming crash. Spark was the first Marine regimental commander killed in Vietnam.

The medical evacuation helicopter was downed Thursday in the central highlands 23 miles northwest of Pleiku. Three wounded Americans and four crewmen were killed. The command said it was clearly marked with red crosses.

In addition to the number of helicopters lost in combat, the U.S. Command said 1,316 others have been lost since Jan. 1, 1961, due to mechanical failure, enemy barrages that caught them on the ground and other causes.

Meanwhile, U.S. military analysts said from now until mid-February is a critical period in the Vietnam war because of the peace talks in Paris and the new administration in Washington.

These experts do not see any imminent threat to Saigon, Instead they anticipate enemy attacks on the three provinces along the Cambodian border northwest to northeast of the capital—Tay Ninh, Binh Long and Phuoc Long.

The analysts said intelligence reports indicate the Communist command plans to increase operations in an attempt to give the negotiators from Hanoi and the Viet Cong greater leverage in Paris and to put pressure on the Nixon administration while it is still shaking down.

An enemy winter-spring offensive has been anticipated since last Dec. 13, but the experts said they believe the U.S. and South Vietnamese operations that have smashed numerous bases and captured hundreds of tons of supplies have upset the Viet Cong's timetable.

Because Cambodia is off limits to U.S. and South Vietnamese forces, supplies stockpiled just over the border are available to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese for operations nearby in the three northern provinces of the 3rd Corps Area, which has Saigon at its heart.

Killer Twisters Leave 29 Dead; Cleanup Starts

HAZLEHURST, Miss. (AP) — Massive clean-up operations began today in central Mississippi where tornadoes killed 29 persons as they carved a path of destruction across three counties.

The twisters, roaring in from the west Thursday morning, injured more than 150 persons and left approximately 300 homeless. Damage was estimated in the millions.

The first area struck was a predominantly Negro settlement just outside south Hazlehurst in Copiah County. The tornadoes then moved northeastward into rural areas of Simpson and Smith counties about 30 miles later.

Utility crews worked into the night Thursday to restore most of the electrical and telephone service.

The Hazlehurst hospital alone treated 128 persons. Many others were taken to hospitals in Jackson and Brookhaven.

About 200 homeless persons spent the night at an emergency center set up at the National Guard armory in Hazlehurst. Governmental and private agencies quickly moved into the area to care for the hungry and the homeless.

"We are ready to feed, clothe and shelter all of them," said George Sheffield, central Mississippi Red Cross disaster chairman.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture in Atlanta and the state Welfare Department in Jackson volunteered to provide food where needed. Gov. John Bell Williams, on a tour of the stricken area, pledged state aid.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., announced in Washington the Small Business Administration would make three per cent loans available to business and residential areas. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., urged the government to declare the region a federal disaster area.

Survivors said an overwhelming roar and ominous darkness preceded the tornado.

Bitter Cold Rolls East Into Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bitterly cold weather struck the nation's midsection today and triggered snow, sleet and severe thunderstorms as it raced over the Midwest and into the South.

Temperatures which failed to rise above zero for a week dived far below in north-central Montana before daybreak. The community of Havre registered -48. Zero readings extended east to the Great Lakes and south into Oklahoma.

Cold wave warnings were in effect for portions of 12 states ranging as far south as central Texas and northwestern Mississippi. The mercury tumbled as much as 40 degrees in parts of the Midwest overnight.

Chicagoans basked in a springlike 53 at midday Thursday, then shivered in 9 above zero early today.

Severe thunderstorms pelted sections of Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee with hail as fringes of the arctic blast swept into the South.

Far to the north, 5 inches of snow piled onto Hibbing, Minn., during the night. Lesser accumulations ranged into Wisconsin and other adjacent states.

Blizzard conditions prevailed in portions of eastern North Dakota and much of Minnesota as the sting of the intense cold was heightened by strong, gusty winds.

Sleet and freezing drizzle glazed sections of the Midwest and Great Lakes region ahead of the snow.

Rain soaked much of the Eastern Seaboard where temperatures remained generally in the 40s and 50s before dawn. Fog shrouded some inland areas.

Nixon Legislative Program To Be Given Solons Soon

Last-Minute LBJ Nominees Are Withdrawn

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has withdrawn 155 nominations—including two ambassadors, five judges and dozens of postmasters—submitted to the Senate by Lyndon Johnson in the last days of his administration.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon wants a chance to review them all case-by-case "without prejudice."

"There is a possibility," Ziegler said, "some will be renominated."

The nominees for ambassador are Robert W. Komer, former head of the Vietnam pacification program, whom Johnson named envoy to Turkey, and Albert W. Sherer Jr., a career foreign service officer who had been slated to go to Equatorial Guinea.

The five judges had been named to U.S. district courts in California, Washington, D.C., and Guam.

Ziegler was quick to point out that President Kennedy had withdrawn 1,243 Eisenhower postmaster nominations when he took office. But Ziegler said he did not know how many nominations had been submitted or subsequently reinstated.

The action also affected three men Johnson had named to the Law Enforcement Assistance Agency, created last year to help local police in the fight against crime. They are administrator Patrick V. Murphy, former director of public safety in the nation's capital, and associate administrators Ralph G. H. Siu of Hawaii and Wesley A. Pomeroy of California.

Johnson's longtime Texas friend and congressional liaison aide in the White House, Harold Barefoot Sanders Jr., was among new federal judges involved. He had been named to the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

Other judgeships withdrawn: David G. Bress for the District of Columbia William M. Byrne Jr. and Cecil F. Poole of California, to serve the central and northern Districts of California, respectively and James P. Alger of Utah for the District Court of Guam.

Athens County Blaze Claims Little Girl, 2

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A 2-year-old Athens County girl died early today in a bedroom fire started by a candle, and her father was burned in a vain attempt to rescue her.

The victim was Tama Lee Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Adams of near New Marshfield about 10 miles west of here.

Authorities said that while the two-story house was wired for electricity, there was no power, and the parents had placed a lighted candle by the child's bed as a night light.

The fire broke out about 5:30 a.m., and soon the child's first floor bedroom was enveloped in flames. Flames drove the father back when he tried to enter the bedroom door.

Mrs. Bennett Resigns

Chamber Dinner Attended By More Than 300

The 4-H Grange Building on the Fairgrounds was filled to capacity Thursday evening for the annual general membership dinner meeting of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Primarily a festive occasion, the event was marred by the announcement of Mrs. E. R. (Jerry) Bennett's resignation as chamber manager.

The more than 300 in attendance gave Mrs. Bennett a standing ovation following her announcement which was with regret and appreciation by chamber directors.

Mrs. Bennett has held the full-time position since 1961. Her enthusiasm and endless efforts have led the chamber to its present active role in the community. In recognizing her efficiency, Robert Wilson, 1968 chamber president, noted "If Jerry had given her resignation a year ago, I'm afraid I would have followed suit." Wilson, who was also commended for his efforts during his term of office, attributed his success to Mrs. Bennett.

JERRY, in her role as chamber manager, has attended a special institute in organizational management at Michigan State University for the past six years. It was through the institute that she was able to formulate a "Program of Action" for the local chamber.

Mrs. Bennett, wife of local realtor, E. R. Bennett, said her

Sirhan Case Prosecution Wins Hassle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The prosecution won a gentlemanly hassle with the defense Thursday over questioning of prospective jurors in the Sirhan Bishara Siran murder trial.

Things wound up just where they started the day—with nine men and three women tentatively seated, and the jury perhaps another week from being finally constituted.

Jury selection goes into the ninth day today.

Attorney Grant B. Cooper, defending the 24-year-old Jordanian accused in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, asked a woman prospective juror Thursday whether she would have a preference between a life or death penalty in the event of a first-degree murder conviction.

Deputy Dist. Atty. David N. Fitts, on his feet before she could reply, objected: "Mr. Cooper speaks of 'this defendant.' Mr. Cooper asks, 'Do you have any preference in this case, the Sirhan case?'"

"We're not concerned with what the prospective jurors think in the Sirhan case but with murder cases in general."

Cooper retorted: "If a juror favors the death penalty at this time, we have a right to excuse that juror."

Presiding Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker sustained the prosecutor's objection, however. He said Cooper's question assumed "facts we don't know because they're not in evidence yet."

Retired Dean Dies During Chile Trip

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Very Rev. David Loegler, retired dean of Trinity Episcopal Cathedral in Cleveland, has died of a heart attack while on a six-week tour of South America with his wife, Virginia. He was 68.

The death occurred Wednesday in Tierra del Fuego, Chile, according to word received by his family here.

See Changes In LBJ Budget, Poverty Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon hopes to start sending "a significant legislative program" to Congress within several weeks, according to the President's newly named chief White House staff member.

The statement from Arthur F. Burns gave added substance to other indications that Nixon intends to present the Democratic 91st Congress with an ambitious legislative program as soon as possible, perhaps by March.

Burns, an economist and "longtime friend and trusted advisor" was named by Nixon Thursday as counselor to the President with cabinet rank, the only White House staff member with that status.

Burns, whose chief responsibility will be development of domestic policies and programs, said he already has submitted two reports to Nixon on potential legislative proposals or executive actions.

A decision yet to be reached is how and exactly when Nixon will make his legislative proposals. If the President decides on a special State of the Union message it probably will come within 30 or 40 days, Burns said.

The alternative would be a series of special messages. The other indications that Nixon wants to get his proposals to Congress as soon as possible included his creation of nine special panels within the Council of Urban Affairs to submit recommendations on what he called "near term" issues requiring quick action.

In addition, Budget Director Robert P. May has disclosed that the President will send to Congress recommended changes in the $195.3 billion budget submitted by former President Johnson.

Another likely proposal will be a recommendation for at least a partial dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the agency chiefly responsible for the War on Poverty.

Daniel P. Moynihan, Nixon's assistant for urban affairs, said "There clearly has arisen a pre-disposition in favor of locating in established departments those functions developed by the OEO which have proven successful."

Vatican Says Suicides OK

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Vatican radio broadcast praising the Czech youths who set themselves on fire to protest Soviet control was made at the direction of Pope Paul VI's Secretariat of State.

This was confirmed today by well-placed sources in the Vatican press office and in Vatican radio.

The broadcast Thursday caused shock not only in Vatican circles and the Italian press but at Vatican radio itself.

The broadcast compared the fire-burnings, including the suicide of Czech student Jan Pálač, to the sacrifices of the early Christian martyrs and said the protest acts "deserved the gratitude" of the world.

Many priests and prelates expressed astonishment at such a stand, noting that during the wave of Buddhist fire suicides in South Vietnam five years ago the Vatican press expressed disapproval.

OK Southeastern Ohio Planning Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Economic Development Administration has approved a $44,114 grant to help finance planning for nine southeastern Ohio counties.

The grant to the Buckeye-Hocking Valley Regional Development Council in Caldwell is expected to help create jobs and increase income for persons in Athens, Belmont, Hocking, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Noble, Perry and Washington counties.

Hickel Wins Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has easily won its first congressional test, gaining confirmation of Walter J. Hickel as secretary of interior over the opposition of nearly all the Senate Democratic leadership.

Democrats in Congress will be watching the Alaska governor's every move after he is sworn in at the White House ceremonies today.

"Mr. Hickel is on notice from both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue," said Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield after Hickel was confirmed Thursday by a vote of 73 to 16.

"It will probably mean he will be a very good secretary of the interior," Mansfield added. Mansfield, paired against confirmation, said the vote has no significance for the future and "we're very hopeful relations will be good."

Hickel, whose views on conservation and water pollution had stirred a storm of controversy, was the last of Nixon's 12 Cabinet appointees to be approved. The others were sworn in Wednesday.

Also confirmed Thursday was multimillionaire California industrialist David R. Packard as deputy secretary of defense.

The vote was 82 to 1. Tennessee Democrat Albert Gore, declaring the nomination constitutes "a conflict of interest as plain as the nose on your face," cast the single "nay."

Ex-Marine Gets 2 Purple Hearts After 50 Years

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Julius Steinberg of Omaha has been presented two Purple Heart medals for wounds received 50 years ago.

He was gassed and wounded by an artillery shell while serving as a courier with the 6th Marine Regiment in the Belleau Woods campaign of World War I.

Steinberg, 79, said his son, the Rev. Willis H. Steinberg of Minneapolis, called the oversight to the attention of a Marine Corps researcher.

He said the award was delayed because the company records were blown up. He said this even delayed his discharge for several months.

Pueblo Skipper Tells Of Brutal North Korean Torture

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The captain of the Pueblo says he confessed to spying after blood-chilling mental torture, and then tried to drown himself in a bucket of water.

Tears streaming, his voice breaking with anguish, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher told a Navy court of inquiry Thursday that North Koreans finally broke him by threatening to shoot his crewmen one-by-one in front of him—and summoning the youngest sailor and saying they would start with him.

Bucher's account of the terror ended—at least for now—his public appearances. He goes before a closed session of the court today to give secret—classified—testimony, and will be followed, the Navy said, by Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, commander of U.S. naval force in Japan at the time the Pueblo was seized. Bucher has said he radioed desperately for help as North Korean gunboats surrounded the intelligence ship, but it never arrived.

The Navy said Johnson would testify after closed-door accounts from one or more of three captains under his command in Japan when the Pueblo was seized off North Korea last year. Summaries of all secret sessions will be prepared, deleting all classified information, and made available to newsmen, a Navy spokesman said. Open court sessions are scheduled to resume Wednesday.

After describing why he confessed, Bucher said Thursday, "sometime during the night I attempted to commit suicide by drowning myself in a bucket of water in my room but was unable to accomplish this."

"Mentally, I was quite disturbed," he said, partly because of the embarrassment he thought his confession caused the United States.

The typewritten confession said Bucher was a CIA agent, that his ship intruded into North Korean waters and that he was trying to put South Koreans ashore.

"And I realized," he said, "they (North Koreans) needed me alive more than anyone else in the crew for public appearances that I was afraid of and knew were coming."

The court warned Bucher Wednesday he may have violated regulations by surrendering the ship. Bucher was in his fourth day of testimony and has been unusually calm, sometimes tense, until he came to describing an interrogation before he confessed. As he talked he began trembling.

"They made me kneel on the floor," Bucher said. He said a North Korean he nicknamed "Super Colonel," or "Super C," seemed desperate.

"You have two minutes to decide to sign the confession or be shot," Bucher said he was told. "I spent two minutes on the floor and I repeated over and over... (the skipper's voice broke and he paused) I love you, Rose, I love you, Rose."

His blonde wife Rose sobbed and rubbed her eyes at that point in his testimony.

"At the end of the two minutes he asked me to sign," Bucher said. "I said I wouldn't. He told a guard at my side to move so when I got shot and the bullet passed through my head, he would not be hit."

"Kill the son of a bitch!" Bucher said a North Korean shouted. "The gun clicked but it didn't fire. I had fully expected to be shot. But when the slide was drawn back, presumably to insert another bullet, I did not hear any bullet hit the floor and I damn well knew it was a game they were playing."

Two more minutes went by, Bucher said, and "the officer said, 'He's not worth a bullet,' and told me I would be beaten to death. Two guards beat me to the floor and kicked me and worked me over real good. I lost

Vatican Says Suicides OK

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Vatican radio broadcast praising the Czech youths who set themselves on fire to protest Soviet control was made at the direction of Pope Paul VI's Secretariat of State.

This was confirmed today by well-placed sources in the Vatican press office and in Vatican radio.

The broadcast Thursday caused shock not only in Vatican circles and the Italian press but at Vatican radio itself.

The broadcast compared the fire-burnings, including the suicide of Czech student Jan Patach, to the sacrifices of the early Christian martyrs and said the protest acts "deserved the gratitude" of the world.

Many priests and prelates expressed astonishment at such a stand, noting that during the wave of Buddhist fire suicides in South Vietnam five years ago the Vatican press expressed disapproval.

Hickel Wins Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has easily won its first congressional test, gaining confirmation of Walter J. Hickel as secretary of interior over the opposition of nearly all the Senate Democratic leadership.

Democrats in Congress will be watching the Alaska governor's every move after he is sworn in at the White House ceremonies today.

"Mr. Hickel is on notice from both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue," said Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield after Hickel was confirmed Thursday by a vote of 73 to 16.

"It will probably mean he will be a very good secretary of the interior," Mansfield added. Mansfield, paired against confirmation, said the vote has no significance for the future and "we're very hopeful relations will be good."

Hickel, whose views on conservation and water pollution had stirred a storm of controversy, was the last of Nixon's 12 Cabinet appointees to be approved. The others were sworn in Wednesday.

Also confirmed Thursday was multimillionaire California industrialist David R. Packard as deputy secretary of defense.

The vote was 82 to 1. Tennessee Democrat Albert Gore, declaring the nomination constitutes "a conflict of interest as plain as the nose on your face," cast the single "nay."

Ex-Marine Gets 2 Purple Hearts After 50 Years

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Julius Steinberg of Omaha has been presented two Purple Heart medals for wounds received 50 years ago.

He was gassed and wounded by an artillery shell while serving as a courier with the 6th Marine Regiment in the Belleau Woods campaign of World War I.

Steinberg, 79, said his son, the Rev. Willis H. Steinberg of Minneapolis, called the oversight to the attention of a Marine Corps researcher.

He said the award was delayed because the company records were blown up. He said this even delayed his discharge for several months.

Pueblo Skipper Tells Of Brutal North Korean Torture

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The captain of the Pueblo says he confessed to spying after blood-chilling mental torture, and then tried to drown himself in a bucket of water.

Tears streaming, his voice breaking with anguish, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher told a Navy court of inquiry Thursday that North Koreans finally broke him by threatening to shoot his crewmen one-by-one in front of him—and summoning the youngest sailor and saying they would start with him.

Bucher's account of the terror ended—at least for now—his public appearances. He goes before a closed session of the court today to give secret—classified—testimony, and will be followed, the Navy said, by Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, commander of U.S. naval force in Japan at the time the Pueblo was seized. Bucher said he radioed desperately for help as North Korean gunboats surrounded the intelligence ship, but it never arrived.

The Navy said Johnson would testify after closed-door accounts from one or more of three captains under his command in Japan when the Pueblo was seized off North Korea last year. Summaries of all secret sessions will be prepared, deleting all classified information, and made available to newsmen, a Navy spokesman said.

Open court sessions are scheduled to resume Wednesday.

After describing why he confessed, Bucher said Thursday, "sometime during the night I attempted to commit suicide by drowning myself in a bucket of water in my room but was unable to accomplish this."

"Mentally, I was quite disturbed," he said, partly because of the embarrassment he thought his confession caused the United States.

The typewritten confession said Bucher was a CIA agent, that his ship intruded into North Korean waters and that he was trying to put South Koreans ashore.

"And I realized," he said, "they (North Koreans) needed me alive more than anyone else in the crew for public appearances that I was afraid of and knew were coming."

The court warned Bucher Wednesday he may have violated regulations by surrendering the ship. Bucher was in his fourth day of testimony and has been unusually calm, sometimes tense, until he came to describing an interrogation before he confessed. As he talked he began trembling.

"They made me kneel on the floor," Bucher said. He said a North Korean he nicknamed Super Colonel, or "Super C," seemed desperate.

"You have two minutes to decide to sign the confession or be shot," Bucher said he was told. "I spent two minutes on the floor and I repeated over and over. (The skipper's voice broke and he paused) I love you, Rose, I love you, Rose."

His blonde wife Rose sobbed and rubbed her eyes at that point in his testimony.

"At the end of the two minutes he asked me to sign," Bucher said. "I said I wouldn't. He told a guard at my side to move so when I got shot and the bullet passed through my head, he would not be hit."

"Kill the son of a bitch!" Bucher said a North Korean shouted. "The gun clicked but it didn't fire. I had fully expected to be shot. But when the slide was drawn back, presumably to insert another bullet, I did not hear any bullet hit the floor and I damn well knew it was a game they were playing."

Two more minutes went by, Bucher said, and "the officer said, 'He's not worth a bullet,' and told me I would be beaten to death. Two guards beat me to the floor and kicked me and worked me over real good. I lost

At one point, as Bucher appeared near collapse, the Navy's counsel, Capt. William Newsome, asked if he wanted a recess.

"No! No! I would rather get this over with now," Bucher replied. He was trembling.

Bucher said he was taken to another building and shown a tortured man strapped to a wall. "They told me he was a South Korean spy. He was alive . . . but had a compound fracture of his upper right arm with the bone sticking out. He was stripped to the waist. He had completely bitten through . . ."

Bucher's voice broke, and after a long pause he continued: " . . . completely bitten through his lower lip. It was hanging down. His right eye had been put out. His head was hanging down. There was a lot of . . . (Bucher's voice failed for a minute) . . . black matter running down his right cheek. He was under three spotlights. I do not remember leaving that building."

He said his captors told him, "That's what happens to spies, and you are spies, and you will get exactly the same."

"I passed out," Bucher said. Bucher said he revived in his interrogation room.

"We will now begin to shoot your crew and shoot them in your presence until you sign," he said Super C told him. "And even then if you will not sign, I will make you sign."

Bucher said the North Koreans summoned the youngest member of his crew, 21-year-old Fireman 2.C. Howard Bland.

"I was not prepared for them to shoot my crew," Bucher said. "I was convinced they would do it. They were animals. I was not prepared to go through things like that."

Bucher was stammering. He paused, wiped his eyes, took a drink of water.

"I was not prepared for this type of mental torture," he said. "I told them at this time, 'I will sign this confession,' I did sign it. I was taken back to my room and a big plateful of food with egg and other goodies was brought to me . . . I did not touch it."

Bucher began trembling.

Bond Costs Bring Yell

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 29-year-old woman charged with stealing money from banks in five states is being held on a total of $63,000 bond and told U.S. Commissioner Clifford E. Bruce Thursday:

"This bond is getting out of control."

Frankie Mae Matthews, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., was charged with stealing $500 from a bank in North Carolina. She already had been charged with thefts from banks in Cleveland, Chicago, South Carolina and Virginia.

Bruce set bond here at $1,000 and the total is believed to be one of the highest ever set for a woman.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Harry E. Pickering said Mrs. Matthews belonged to a gang which operated by distracting the attention of a bank teller while another member grabbed money from behind the counter.

Steam Cars Could End Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sixty years after it chugged off into oblivion, the steam-powered automobile may be tuning up for a comeback.

If the country gets really serious about licking air pollution, says Resources for the Future, Inc., it might take a look at modern-day versions of the Stanley Steamer, the White and the Locomobile.

From all standpoints of technology, "an acceptable steam powered automobile could be put on the roads in a very few years," said a special study published in RFF's annual report.

Electric autos also would help the smog problem, the report said, but would need "a decade or so" of development to become high performance vehicles matching gasoline-fueled internal combustion engines.

The steam car, by contrast, could quite rapidly be developed into a fully-powered, long range vehicle equivalent to today's ordinary motor cars in response, acceleration, power and fuel economy.

Unlike its ancestors of the early 1900s, the new steamer would have no heavy, dangerous boiler, could make a cold start in 30 seconds, and wouldn't have to stop every half-hour to take on water.

The absence of clutch or transmission would mean less cost, less weight, lower repair bills. And because the steam engine can give instant reverse acceleration, brakes would be needed only for parking.

And it would discharge virtually none of the contaminants which make autos and trucks the principal source of air pollution.

State Parks Get Expansion Funds From Ohio Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Five state park projects will receive more than $500,000 for improvements by action of the State Controlling Board.

The projects are at Pike Lake State Park, Pike County; Portsmouth State Park, Scioto County; Hocking Hills State Park, Hocking County; Salt Fork State Park, Guernsey County, and Paint Creek Reservoir, Highland County.

The Pike Lake Park got $232,000 for water and sewer systems; Portsmouth Park got $77,000 for designing marina facilities, and the Hocking Hills park $40,000 for purchase of two additional plots of land.

Salt Fork Park got $48,000 through approval of a contract with a Columbus firm to design water and sewage facilities, and the board released $144,200 to buy 245 acres for Paint Creek.

lution, according to the findings of Physicist Robert U. Ayres.

Under a grant from RFF to determine whether there are practical alternatives to the internal combustion engine, Ayres performed the research at Hudson Institute, Croton On Hudson, N.Y.

The study said that interest in the steam powered car has never died out, and in new hand-crafted models the most serious shortcomings of the old steamers are now overcome.

Instead of a massive teakettle-type boiler it would have a monotube steam generator containing only a small amount of water. Water consumption might amount to a gallon every thousand miles.

There would be no starter motor, carburetor or fuel injection, no engine-block cooling system, no distributor, no muffler, no elaborate air pollution control system and only one spark plug.

The savings would more than offset the extra weight of the steam or vapor generator and its controls, Ayres said.

Any hydrocarbon distillate would serve as fuel. Continuous combustion at low pressure would result in a much more complete burning and, even without controls, far fewer air pollutants. There would be no stringent requirements for octane ratings or need for adding tetraethyl lead—and thus no blowing into the atmosphere of vast quantities of fine lead particles hazardous to health.

consciousness after a few minutes . . . I asked to go to the bathroom . . . all I could urinate was blood."

At one point, as Bucher appeared near collapse, the Navy's counsel, Capt. William Newsome, asked if he wanted a recess.

"No! No! I would rather get this over with now," Bucher replied. He was trembling.

Bucher said he was taken to another building and shown a tortured man strapped to a wall. "They told me he was a South Korean spy. He was alive . . . but had a compound fracture of his upper right arm with the bone sticking out. He was stripped to the waist. He had completely bitten through . . ."

Bucher's voice broke, and after a long pause he continued: " . . . completely bitten through his lower lip. It was hanging down. His right eye had been put out. His head was hanging down. There was a lot of . . . (Bucher's voice failed for a minute) . . . black matter running down his right cheek. He was under three spotlights. I do not remember leaving that building."

He said his captors told him, "That's what happens to spies, and you are spies, and you will get exactly the same."

"I passed out," Bucher said.

Bucher said he revived in his interrogation room.

"We will now begin to shoot your crew and shoot them in your presence until you sign," he said Super C told him. "And even then if you will not sign, I will make you sign."

Bucher said the North Koreans summoned the youngest member of his crew, 21-year-old Fireman 2.C. Howard Bland.

"I was not prepared for them to shoot my crew," Bucher said. "I was convinced they would do it. They were animals. I was not prepared to go through things like that."

Bucher was stammering. He paused, wiped his eyes, took a drink of water.

"I was not prepared for this type of mental torture," he said. "I told them at this time, 'I will sign this confession.' I did sign it. I was taken back to my room and a big plateful of food with egg and other goodies was brought to me . . . I did not touch it."

Bucher began trembling.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty years after it chugged off into oblivion, the steam-powered automobile may be tuning up for a comeback.

If the country gets really serious about licking air pollution, says Resources for the Future, Inc., it might take a look at modern-day versions of the Stanley Steamer, the White and the Locomobile.

From all standpoints of technology, "an acceptable steam powered automobile could be put on the roads in a very few years," said a special study published in RFF's annual report.

Electric autos also would help the smog problem, the report said, but would need "a decade or so" of development to become high performance vehicles matching gasoline-fueled internal combustion engines.

The steam car, by contrast, could quickly be developed into a fully-powered, long range vehicle equivalent to today's ordinary motor cars in response, acceleration, power and fuel economy.

Unlike its ancestors of the early 1900s, the new steamer would have no heavy, dangerous boiler, could make a cold start in 30 seconds, and wouldn't have to stop every half-hour to take on water.

The absence of clutch or transmission would mean less cost, less weight, lower repair bills. And because the steam engine can give instant reverse acceleration, brakes would be needed only for parking.

And it would discharge virtually none of the contaminants which make autos and trucks the principal source of air pollution, according to the findings of Physicist Robert U. Ayres.

Under a grant from RFF to determine whether there are practical alternatives to the internal combustion engine, Ayres performed the research at Hudson Institute, Croton On Hudson, N.Y.

The study said that interest in the steam powered car has never died out, and in new hand-crafted models the most serious shortcomings of the old steamers are now overcome.

Steam Cars Could End Pollution

Instead of a massive teakettle-type boiler it would have a monotype steam generator containing only a small amount of water. Water consumption might amount to a gallon every thousand miles.

There would be no starter motor, carburetor or fuel injection, no engine-block cooling system, no distributor, no muffler, no elaborate air pollution control system and only one spark plug. The savings would more than offset the extra weight of the steam or vapor generator and its controls, Ayres said.

Any hydrocarbon distillate would serve as fuel. Continuous combustion at low pressure would result in a much more complete burning and, even without controls, far fewer air pollutants. There would be no stringent requirements for octane ratings or need for adding tetraethyl lead—and thus no blowing into the atmosphere of vast quantities of fine lead particles hazardous to health.

Electric autos also would help the smog problem, the report said, but would need "a decade or so" of development to become high performance vehicles matching gasoline-fueled internal combustion engines.

Film Star Talks In Murder Probe

Delon, 33, who has starred in more than a dozen movies in Europe and the United States, was not under arrest. In France, someone can be detained for 48 hours without charge, and there was no hint that a charge against Delon was planned.

Paris has buzzed with rumors of drug traffic and unusual parties involving people in high places since the body of Markovic was found trussed and gagged in a jute sack on a public dump Oct. 1. He had last been seen on Sept. 22 when he got into a taxi for a mysterious appointment.

Ecumenical Movement Continues

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mingling now with relaxed familiarity, Christians of many kinds and characteristics this week celebrated their burgeoning unity, praying for more of it.

"Beyond our ignorances, our prejudices, beyond intellectual and spiritual barriers, unite us, Lord Jesus," went a joint intercession prepared by Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic representatives.

They also marked just how far they've come on that convergent course, and noted recent steps taken along it. These, while individually not spectacular of late, add up to considerable cumulative headway.

It was the annual observance of the "Week of Prayer for Christian Unity," Jan. 18-25, dating back more than a quarter century, but only since 1964 planned together by the three major groups.

It now involves common worship materials, and united services in many communities in this country and abroad.

Although some churchmen

have voiced worries about a supposed slowdown or stalemate in the ecumenical movement, now that the romance of initial contacts has passed, many new, stronger ties quietly have occurred recently.

They've developed largely at grass-roots level, long the dominant sphere of the movement, but now astir in many localities with joint Protestant-Catholic study groups and action on such concerns as peace, poverty and racial parity.

Further strides also have come in official echelons. Among them:

—A swelling number, now

nearing 40, of local councils of churches, formerly made up only of Protestant and Orthodox churches, now include Catholic churches or dioceses as members.

—In New York, the nation's largest city, the word "Protestant" was dropped from the name of the city's Council of Churches in a revised constitution, effective Jan. 1, opening the way for Catholic membership.

—State councils in New Mexico and Nevada now include Catholic dioceses, others are expected to become part of the Texas state council in February, and talks are going on about their joining in Minnesota and Louisiana.

—A new interreligious executive committee has been formed in this country by top officials of the National Council, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and the Synagogue Council of America for mutual consultation on strategy.

—A broad agreement reached by a joint Catholic-Anglican (Episcopalian) committee urged official acknowledgement that the two communions are "one in faith," with differences largely in terminology and methods.

Centerville Men Face Gun Charge

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two men from suburban Centerville have been charged with possession of unregistered machine guns following a three-month probe and raids on their homes Wednesday.

Booked under the same charge under state laws was Wesley M. Luburgh, 29.

Ecumenical Movement Continues

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mingling now with relaxed familiarity, Christians of many kinds and characteristics this week celebrated their burgeoning unity, praying for more of it.

"Beyond our ignorances, our prejudices... beyond intellectual and spiritual barriers, unite us, Lord Jesus," went a joint intercession prepared by Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic representatives.

They also marked just how far they've come on that convergent course, and noted recent steps taken along it. These, while individually not spectacular of late, add up to considerable cumulative headway.

It was the annual observance of the "Week of Prayer for Christian Unity," Jan. 18-26, dating back more than a quarter century, but only since 1964 planned together by the three major groups.

It now involves common worship materials, and united services in many communities in this country and abroad.

Although some churchmen

have voiced worries about a supposed slowdown or stalemate in the ecumenical movement, now that the romance of initial contacts has passed, many new, stronger ties quietly have occurred recently.

They've developed largely at grass-roots level, long the dominant sphere of the movement, but now astir in many localities with joint Protestant-Catholic study groups and action on such concerns as peace, poverty and racial parity.

Further strides also have come in official echelons. Among them:

—A swelling number, now

nearing 40, of local councils of churches, formerly made up only of Protestant and Orthodox churches, now include Catholic churches or dioceses as members.

—In New York, the nation's largest city, the word "Protestant" was dropped from the name of the city's Council of Churches in a revised constitution, effective Jan. 1, opening the way for Catholic membership.

—State councils in New Mexico and Nevada now include Catholic dioceses, others are expected to become part of the Texas state council in February.

ary, and talks are going on about their joining in Minnesota and Louisiana.

—A new interreligious executive committee has been formed in this country by top officials of the National Council, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and the Synagogue Council of America for mutual consultation on strategy.

—A broad agreement reached by a joint Catholic-Anglican (Episcopalian) committee urged official acknowledgement that the two communions are "one in faith," with differences largely in terminology and methods.

Centerville Men Face Gun Charge

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two men from suburban Centerville have been charged with possession of unregistered machine guns following a three-month probe and raids on their homes Wednesday.

Gale L. Schutzler, 27, was charged under both state and federal laws in what federal agents said was the first seizure in the area under the newly-created gun control act of 1968.

That law requires registration of certain firearms and destructive devices. Booked under the same

Oceanographic Errors

That the world has much to learn about its ocean topography before it goes much further in deep water exploration was indicated by studies made by the U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office in the deep waters of the South Pacific.

Depth soundings taken from aboard the USS De Haven and USS Ozbourn, both destroyers, over a 10,000-mile trip which began in Japan and ended in Hawaii have revealed a number of discrepancies on mariners' charts.

Eighteen new major topographical features were located, including a large shoal 300 miles from Guam. Some of these present dangers to shipping because of their shallow depths. In addition, five other features previously reported could not be located and six were verified.

Near Australia, the oceanographers found an island which was three miles away from its charted position, and a shoal system which was previously uncharted and came to within 11 fathoms (less than 70 feet) of the surface.

Such are the surprises awaiting man as he ventures deeper into the oceans in quest of the necessities of life on this planet. The Navy can make frequent contributions to better understanding of the seas if it continues testing, sounding and otherwise exploring the depths from ships on routine voyages.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — As every veteran bartender, doctor, lawyer, newspaperman and minister knows, sooner or later almost anything can happen to anybody.

Insurance claims adjusters, too, in time become familiar with the quirks of chance and the vagaries of human behavior. One of these, R. J. Bartum, claims vice president of State Farm Mutual and a man with a fine eye for the ridiculous and the unusual, collects as a hobby some of the odd cases his firm has been called upon to settle.

Here are a few:

A Midwestern client summoned police after he smashed into a telephone pole. They immediately arrested him for a drunken driving.

Denying the charge, he asked for a drunkometer test. When the drunkometer failed to work, the man said, "I'm an electronics engineer, I'll fix it."

He did, then took the test—and flunked.

After whooping it up in a Michigan tavern, a bunch of Indians on their way back to the reservation attacked a passing pickup truck with rocks and beer bottles. The driver veered into a telephone pole.

He collected, but the insurance company couldn't, it found, collect from the wayward braves. Their tribe had never signed a full peace treaty with the United States; therefore they couldn't be sued.

An Illinois man reported he'd just been in a collision with a bathtub.

"Yes, sir," replied the unruffled claims agent, and asked how he had managed the unusual feat of colliding with a bathtub.

It turned out the bathtub had fallen from a truck on the highway.

Then there was the case of the man who one moment was relaxing chin deep in a warm bath and the next moment found himself, stark naked, sitting on his garage roof.

His hot water heater had exploded. Part of his house was demolished; he was unscathed.

Animals figure in a number of cases:

A 78-year-old woman reported that, while peacefully watering her lawn, she had been attacked and scratched by a surly rabbit.

In Arizona a man collected after he was dive-bombed by a near-sighted desert hawk who snapped the aerial from his moving car and flew off through the sky with it—apparently believing he had caught a snake.

After his car had been stolen, a client had to rent a new one. He retrieved his old car a few days later. The thief crashed into him after running a stop sign.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MOTHERS in overcrowded cities who cart their young off to the country so they can breathe a little fresh air run risks in other directions. Two Manhattan-bred youngsters, for example, were playing in the garden of a rented Connecticut manse when their horrified mother overheard one of them warning the other, "Better not eat that one, Timmy. It has wings on it!"

Myron Cohen tells about the clothing manufacturer who was talking to one of his best customers when his very pretty secretary brushed by on her way to the filing cabinet. Compulsively, the manufacturer reached out and gave her a playful little pat. Neither slackening her pace nor turning her head, she ordered without feeling, "Cut that out, Mannie." The manufacturer sighed deeply. "It's always the same," he complained. "She takes it for granted it's my son-in-law, Mannie!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The myths about fever, high-plained fevers that are referred to as fever of unknown origin. To uncover the cause sometimes takes the most assiduous examination of the blood and the entire body. Many diseases can be recognized by the way the temperature fluctuates every few hours. The high peaks can be identified and can pinpoint the cause. Temperature and fever are body functions of great wonderment.

The nuisance of a nighttime cough in children is well known to the parents and doctors who are also disturbed by them. It is astonishing how frequently a child begins to cough in his own bedroom at night when during the day he seems to be free of it.

It must be suspected that the cough may be an allergic one because of the stuffed toys, dusty playthings, rugs, and bedding.

A post nasal drip is a symptom, not a disease.

The Business World

By LISA CRONIN (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — For a price in excess of $300 million the First National City Corp. is presently in the process of acquiring one of the nation's major insurance concerns, the Chubb Corp.

But isn't First City a bank, you say? And what is a bank doing with an insurance company?

In answer to the first question, yes, the First City is a bank, but a holding company has now been superimposed atop it. Secondly, the bank isn't to be the owner of the insurer; the holding company is.

First City Bank, still the third largest in the nation, now is just one subsidiary of the holding company. Chubb will be another.

And excluding the informed opinion of company executives, it's anyone's guess as to what acquisition is next.

One respected analyst asks in print: "What is to prevent a large financial conglomerate from acquiring a large steel, electronic or automobile company?" And it answers: "Absolutely nothing."

First City's purchase points up the enormous power of this now rampant strain of corporate life, the so-called one-bank holding company, sometimes referred to as the department store of finance.

The concept, though not new, had lain somewhat dormant. In 1966 Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., counted 425 of them. But in the past year it appears there have been at least 50 new ones, some of them quite large.

The one-bank holding company is simply a concern organized as a general business corporation. It is unlike the registered bank holding company, which is a banking concern with holdings of at least 25 per cent in two banks.

Because it is registered as a banking concern, the registered bank holding company is prohibited from activities unrelated to banking. It must register with the Federal Reserve and needs approval of the Federal Reserve Board for expansion.

The one-bank concept avoids this. In fact, no specific federal agency controls all its activities. It can acquire, diversify, merge with other companies with little at all to do with the Reserve Board.

First City, which even as a bank was straining to diversify, decided last year to take on the new form. Its first major move was into insurance, but seemingly it is free now to acquire a mutual fund, expand its travel advisory services, and sell computer services if it chooses.

Such interrelationships obviously mean saving for the customer of one frequently is the customer of another. By bringing them under one roof, the cost of selling and maintaining accounts can be diminished.

Flood Control Plans Are Aired At Cincy Meet

CINCINNATI (AP)—The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers held a public meeting Thursday to air plans for a $30 million flood control project for the Millcreek Valley and gained general support.

Col. R. R. Wessels, chief of the district engineers office at Louisville, Ky., said construction and final planning would take about five years.

Generally the plan calls for digging the channel of the creek deeper, eliminating two bends and adding more pumping power to the Mill Creek Barrier Dam to handle an increased flow of water. All the work would be done on a 19-mile stretch through Hamilton County.

The project will be joined with one already in progress in nearby Butler County and eventually will take in recreation and water development.

We Have Nothing To Gain

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Richard Nixon seems to think negotiation with the Russians may be the key to a Vietnam settlement. His instinct is good: the Soviet regime, through its control of arms shipments and other help to the North Vietnamese, could bring plenty of pressure to bear on Ho Chi Minh if it chose to do so.

However, what has Nixon to offer Moscow for help in settling things in Southeast Asia on an honorable basis? Can the answer be found in the nuclear anti-proliferation pact?

As I read it in my unorthodox fashion, the Russians have everything to gain from preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to neutral nations, and the U.S. has nothing. The plain fact is that Moscow is not about to share its nuclear missile knowledge and weapons with Czechoslovakia or Rumania or Tito's Yugoslavia or anyone else. The Kremlin hasn't a satellite or an ally it could trust. The Soviets would not even let the Arabs into the nuclear club, for if they did it would lessen their control over the hotheds of Cairo. So a Kremlin promise to help limit the present nuclear nation lineup to the U.S., Britain, France, Russia and Red China would not give us anything that we aren't sure to get anyway.

What we would be giving the Soviets by acceptance of a nuclear pact is something they ought to be willing to pay for in good measure. For, if the pact is to be at all comprehensive, it would mean that West Germany, Japan, Turkey and Israel would never become nuclear menaces to Soviet foreign policy. Save for the gap of Red China, the Soviets would be getting a real nuclear cordon sanitaire all around their west, east and southern borders.

What more could they wish?

If the U.S. is forever to be precluded from passing nuclear secrets and arms to Japan or West Germany, it means that we must be willing to extend our missile umbrella over both of them. The Soviets know, however, that any Administration in Washington, whether Democrat or Republican, will do almost anything to avoid a nuclear showdown. Thus a comprehensive nuclear treaty would give the Russians a blackmail power over our statecraft.

Nixon, being a cool-headed man, must have pondered all this. But he also knows that he has emotional Americans to contend with, and these citizens want the vague reassurance that an anti-proliferation nuclear pact would give them. The pact will presumably come about because "world opinion" can be whipped up to demand it.

Yet, since the Soviets have so much to gain from such a treaty, we can exert great leverage if we have the will to take advantage of the situation. If Nixon's Secretary of State Rogers is as good a negotiator as we have been led to believe, couldn't the U.S. make a favorable Southeast Asian peace a part of our price for ratification of a nuclear treaty?

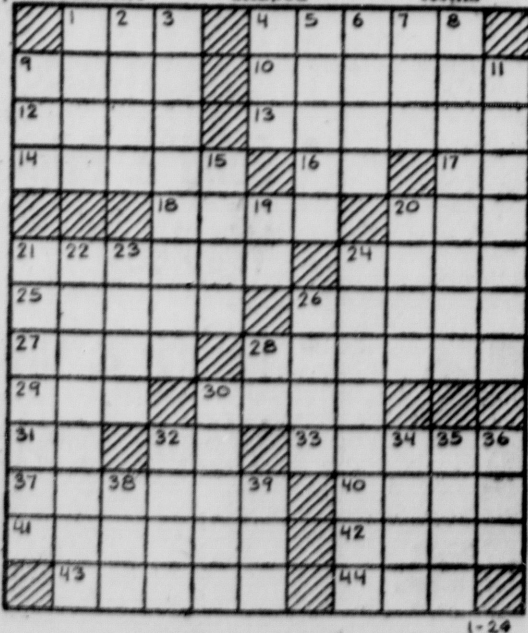

Actually, we have cards to play that might win us considerably more than that. If the Soviets wish to keep our allies — West Germany, Japan — out of the nuclear club, why shouldn't they be ready to cast Fidel Castro adrift as part of the price to be paid?

The big mistake of the Johnson-Rusk "bridge building" policy was that it was always a bits-and-pieces business, with no quids for the freely proffered quos. We were willing to give an Eastern European trade concession here, and a diplomatic wink at Soviet wrongdoing there, in hopes that, when it came to something important like getting Moscow to bring pressure to bear on Ho Chi Minh, the Communists would remember past favors. But no sovereign power, particularly no Communist sovereign power, ever proceeds out of honest gratitude for something done in the past. (Didn't Stalin say that honest diplomacy was as non-existent as dry water?) The only way to get anything out of the Soviets that they wouldn't be giving us anyway is to trade things on a quid pro quo basis. Nixon should receive something good in return for an anti-proliferation pact that the Soviets clearly desire for their own purposes.

Yet, since the Soviets have so much to gain from such a treaty, we can exert great leverage if we have the will to take advantage of the situation. If Nixon's Secretary of State Rogers is as good a negotiator as we have been led to believe, couldn't the U.S. make a favorable Southeast Asian peace a part of our price for ratification of a nuclear treaty?

New Hog Market To Open In March At Clarksburg

Heinold Hog Market — world's largest hog buyer — announced today that it will open its sixth market in Ohio at Clarksburg soon after March 1.

The new market will boost the number of Heinold Markets to 44 in six midwestern states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, and Iowa. Other Ohio markets are located at Delaware, Richwoods, LaRue, Sedalia and Lumberton.

The Clarksburg market will be constructed on a 4.29 acre site at the south edge of the town, purchased from Guy Zuremehly Jr. The 72 by 162-foot market, plus office space and loading chutes, is presently under construction. It will be of pole type construction with aluminum and steel covering.

"We are hopeful that construction can be completed and the market in operation soon after the first of March," said Harold Heinold, president of the company.

The new market will be managed by Lee G. Stewart, 39, who worked for Ohio Producers commission company for 12 years. He formerly ran a hog market for Ohio Producers at Chillicothe.

Heinold is the world's largest independent buyer of hogs. It has grown from a single market in Kouts, Indiana in 1950, which bought 35,000 hogs, to the present 38 markets in six states. Last year, 34 markets purchased over 2.5 million hogs. Hogs bought by Heinold are sold to 85 packers across the country.

The phenomenal growth of the firm has been attributed to a policy of not charging farmers commission or yardage on their hogs, made possible by a minimum overhead. The markets buy hogs Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. The bookkeeping, administration of the yards and the selling of hogs is done through central offices at Kouts, Ind., Galva, Ill., and Sedalia, Ohio.

"Another reason for our success," Heinold pointed out "is that we do not locate a market in any area unless we are certain it will be accepted by hog producers."

"Our reception from farmers in the Clarksburg area has been very gratifying. We shall make every attempt to give them the finest marketing facility they have ever had," Heinold said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Dad's Temper Gets The Best Of Him

DEAR ABBY: At age 81, after having been a widower for many years, Dad married a shrewd little 73-year-old lady. She had dollar signs in her eyes when she married him.

After four months, Dad left her, saying, "Now I don't have to die to know what hell is like."

The problem: When Dad walked out on this lady, he said, "I am sick of you. Take what you want!" (The house and everything in it was Dad's.) Two days later when we went to the house, we nearly fainted. The place had been stripped. She had taken everything, including carpeting, draperies, fixtures, stove, refrigerator, and she even uprooted some of the plants in the garden!

Now, Abby, you know Dad was not of sound mind when he told her to take what she wanted. What should we do? Don't suggest a lawyer. Dad is a lawyer.

TWO DAUGHTERS

DEAR DAUGHTERS: Whether Dad was of "sound mind" or not when he told the grasping little chisler to "take what you want," she took him literally. Dad surely knows that doctors fall ill, consult other doctors, and lawyers with legal problems, consult other lawyers, so he should see a lawyer. But he'd better look for a furnished apartment in the meantime.

DEAR ABBY: I know that when children are young, they all "experiment" a little, but what do you think of four and five-year-olds playing "doctor"?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: It's all right as long as they don't "operate."

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 15 years and my biggest complaint is the same one I've had ever since I was a bride.

My husband "surprises" me with unexpected dinner guests. He doesn't even call to give me a few minutes notice, he just walks in with company at mealtime, and says, "Don't go to any extra trouble. Honey, they'll eat whatever we have." I could just wring his neck!

Sometime I have skimpy leftovers and there is only enough for our family.

Naturally I'm stuck, and have to be a good scout, but I wish I could cure him of his stupid thoughtlessness.

COMPANY FOR SUPPER

DEAR COMPANY: If your husband has been "surprising" you with "unexpected" company for 15 years, it's time you expected it. Quit being a "good scout" and start being a "Girl Scout." (Be Prepared.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SHORE ACRES": It is a common and tragic misconception that people who threaten to commit suicide never do. Nearly every one who has committed suicide has warned others of his intentions. It is well worth while to take every threat seriously and urge that person to seek help.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Dad's Temper Gets The Best Of Him

DEAR ABBY: At age 81, after having been a widower for many years, Dad married a shrewd little 73-year-old lady. She had dollar signs in her eyes when she married him.

After four months, Dad left her, saying, "Now I don't have to die to know what hell is like."

The problem: When Dad walked out on this lady, he said, "I am sick of you. Take what you want!" (The house and everything in it was Dad's.) Two days later when we went to the house, we nearly fainted. The place had been stripped. She had taken everything, including carpeting, draperies, fixtures, stove, refrigerator, and she even uprooted some of the plants in the garden!

Now, Abby, you know Dad was not of sound mind when he told her to take what she wanted. What should we do? Don't suggest a lawyer. Dad is a lawyer.

TWO DAUGHTERS
DEAR DAUGHTERS: Whether Dad was of "sound mind" or not when he told the grasping little chisler to "take what you want," she took him literally. Dad surely knows that doctors fall ill, consult other doctors, and lawyers with legal problems, consult other lawyers, so he should see a lawyer. But he'd better look for a furnished apartment in the meantime.

DEAR ABBY: I know that when children are young, they all "experiment" a little, but what do you think of four and five-year-olds playing "doctor"?

DEAR CONCERNED: It's all right as long as they don't "operate."

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 15 years and my biggest complaint is the same one I've had ever since I was a bride.

My husband "surprises" me with unexpected dinner guests. He doesn't even call to give me a few minutes notice, he just walks in with company at mealtime, and says, Don't go to any extra trouble. Honey, they'll eat whatever we have."

Sometimes I have skimpy leftovers and there is only enough for our family. Naturally I'm stuck, and have to be a good scout, but I wish I could cure him of his stupid thoughtlessness.

COMPANY FOR SUPPER
DEAR COMPANY: If your husband has been "surprising" you with "unexpected" company for 15 years, it's time you expected it. Quit being a "good scout" and start being a "Girl Scout." (Be Prepared.)

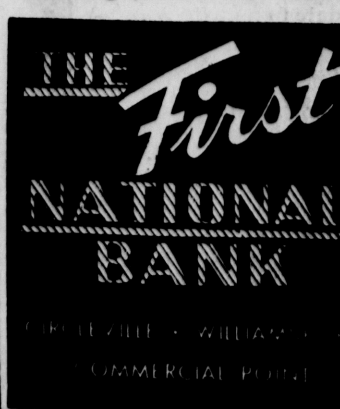

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SHORE ACRES": It is a common and tragic misconception that people who threaten to commit suicide never do. Nearly every one who has committed suicide has warned others of his intentions. It is well worth while to take every threat seriously and urge that person to seek help.

Monday Club Presents Play During Meeting

At the regular meeting of Monday Club, members heard the one act play "The Black Sheep" by Dorothy Murphree. The play concerned the generation gap.

Characters in the play were Georg Platt, a suave, handsome, self-assured man who knows what he wants and how to get it. He has left religion mainly to his wife and children except for his respectable appearance on Sunday morning when he tips his hat to God. This part was read by Mrs. Fred Gearhart.

Grace Platt, an attractive woman with an air of culture and sophistication, neither superficial nor hard. She cares a great deal about people and about her. She teaches a Sunday School class to please her pastor and make him think well of her, but she knows as a mother she has failed. Her part was read by Mrs. Betty Estes.

Ellen Platt, the daughter, a beautiful girl full of life and charm has chosen to be closely affiliated with the church. She has fallen prey to the typical American custom, passed on subconsciously by her mother, of appearing to be what others expect her to be. She wants to be well rounded without being a goody-goody but has neglected the basic principles of life such as honesty and truthfulness. This character part was read by Mrs. Ann Curtis.

Jack Platt, the son, who is a teenager, is trying very hard to impress his family that he is a real cool cat. He does not measure up to the social standards of the family in either his actions or associates. Mrs. William Cox read his part.

Tom Jackson, Jack's friend, is from the wrong side of the tracks. His father has a criminal record. He neither knows nor cares about the "finer things of life." This character part was read by Mrs. Doris Reichelderfer.

Dr. Batson was the pastor and his part was read by Mrs. Nora Johnson. Miss Mary K. May was stage director.

During the business session, Mrs. O. E. Barr, presided. Miss Mary Jane Watt was accepted as an active member in the club.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There were several moments during NBC's alleged documentary, "The Lions Are Free" Thursday night when one wondered if he had not tuned in "Daktari" by mistake.

Theatrical license and camera tricks are permitted, even welcomed, in fictitious action-adventure shows, but when a special program is held out to be an account of a visit by a British actor to Kenya to check up on the well-being of some lions with whom he had costarred a couple of years earlier, it would seem to be the better part of wisdom to stick to the literal truth. Particularly if the resulting film was to be shown to a sophisticated, show-wise audience.

The premise of "The Lions Are Free" was sentimental: Bill Travers, the actor, who had played an African game warden in a 1966 film, "Born Free," and had made friends with seven lions during the production of the film, went back to Africa to see how the animals, after exposure to man, were getting along in their natural habitat.

All that was fine. But the documentary implied that the visit was made by Travers alone to George Adamson, the British game warden he had portrayed who lives alone with his animal friends in the wilds.

Obviously, Travers headed a working party—after all somebody had to be around filming all those reunion scenes. And when a couple of lions started roaring and quarreling over a lioness close to Travers' automobile, the actor and Adamson scurried to safety inside the vehicle. But that left somebody out side with a loaded camera to catch the excitement. At another point Adamson was supposed to be hunting for a lioness who had just had cubs—and again somebody with a camera had gotten there first to record the moment he found her.

None of this nature-faking was really necessary since the affectionate relationship between the animals and Travers and Adamson was unusual and interesting enough without manufactured gimmickry. Particularly rewarding were shots of the trusting lioness with Adamson after she had given birth to two cubs when she permitted him to approach her and touch her babies.

The hour seemed padded by the usual shots of African animals and was interlaced with shots of Travers' wife, Virginia McKenna, worrying about him and the lions at her home in England. Presumably this was to satisfy moviegoers who had seen the film, "Born Free" since Miss McKenna had played Mrs. Adamson. The TV program used the movie theme some throughout. There were also some flashbacks to the film, and an interesting sequence showed a team of veterinarians performing an eye operation on one of the semidomesticated animals.

NBC has assigned correspondent Herb Kaplow to the White House to cover President Nixon. Ray Scherer, its long-time White House correspondent, has been reassigned to the network, London bureau. Kaplow covered Nixon throughout the recent campaign.

OSU Seeks High School Dropouts To Be Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University is recruiting high school drop-outs. They may become school teachers.

The experiment in teacher education, called New Dimensions, is billed by the university as the first of its kind in the country.

It is designed to secure certification as instructional specialists for men who are inner-city residents, 21 to 30 years of age and are high school drop outs.

As trainees, they will participate in a special Ohio State University curriculum planned to run two years. They will work toward a new category of certification created by the State Board of Education for such graduates.

When they complete the course the instructors will go back to innercity schools, many to the schools where they dropped out, to help bridge the cultural gap which often develops between an innercity child and the educational experience.

The University program has created task forces from the business, government and educational communities designed to help trainees understand the program.

Object of the first year's curriculum, says the program's associate director, Robert W. Johnson, is to bring about perceivable changes within the trainee himself.

"It will address itself to his intellectual rehabilitation and the restoration of confidence within himself as an intellectual entity," he said.

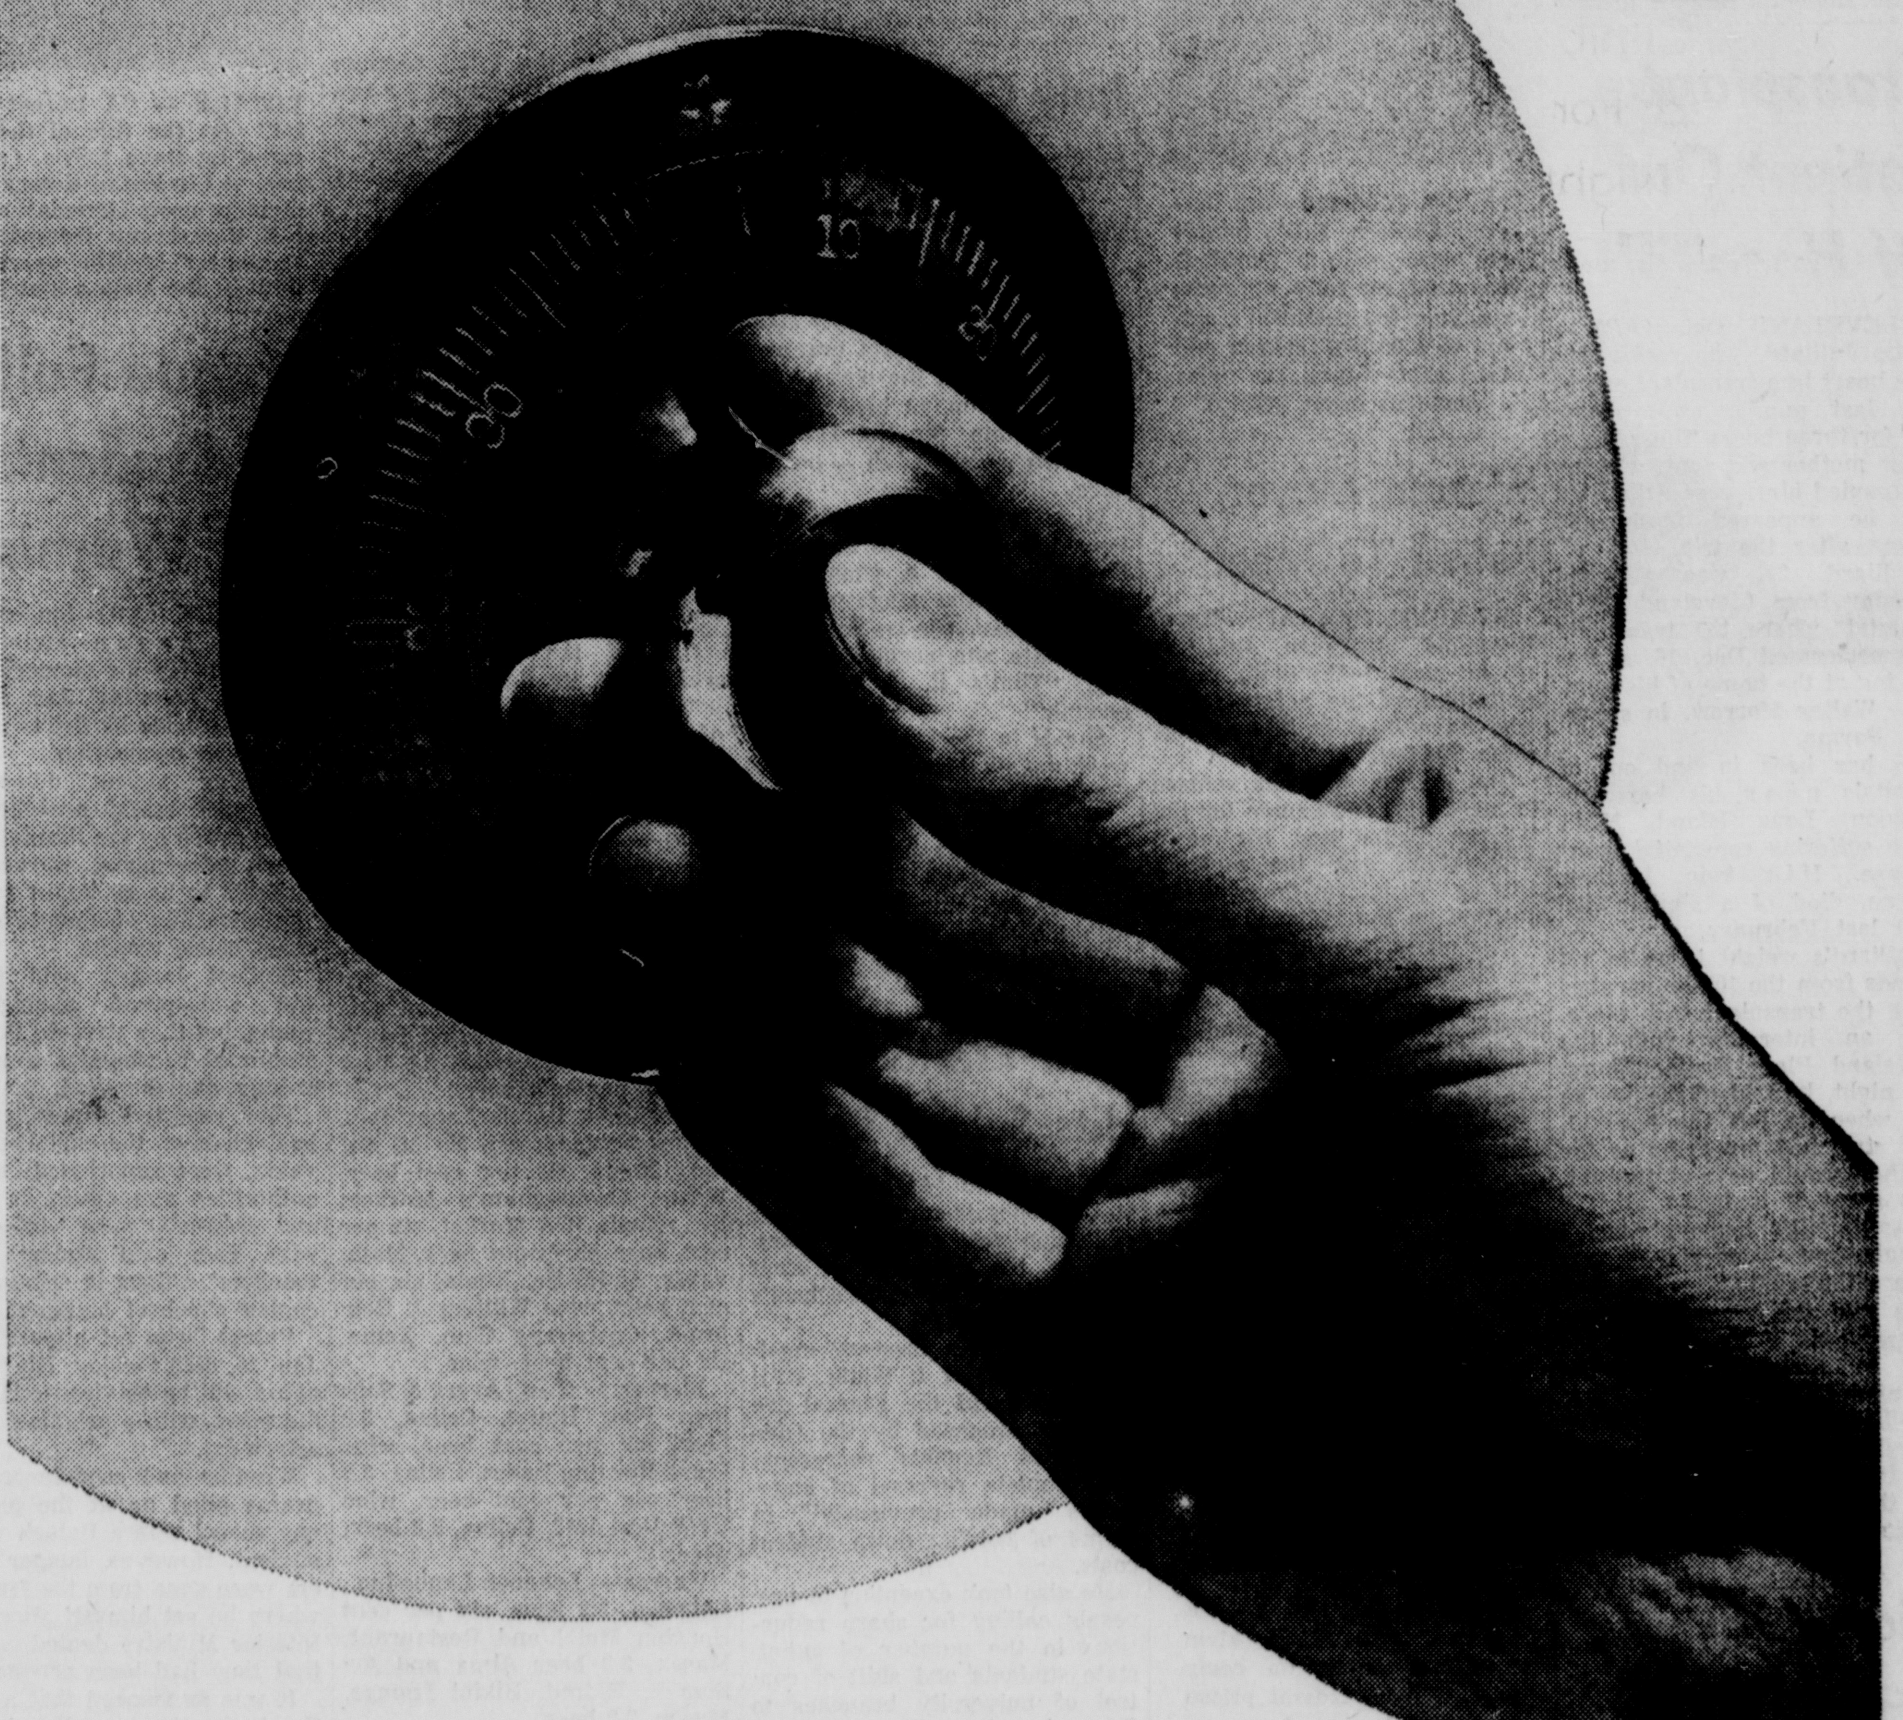

He said the second year will be devoted to teacher preparation and to making opportunities for trainees to pursue areas of studying in which he is particularly interested.

After graduation, the specialists will be required to pursue studies toward a bachelor's degree.

Tuition for the trainees is paid through locally administered federal funds. The trainees will attend classes at the OSU campus here where instructors are drawn from the university faculty.

There are approximately 60,000 pieces of cut colored glass in the 53 story-telling windows of the new National Presbyterian Church and Center in Washington, D.C.

GUARDED TREASURE?

What infinite pains we take to guard our valuable possessions! Yet not all our possessions can be given protection in a safe. What about that priceless treasure which each of us possesses—our eternal happiness?

To safeguard this great treasure, where can we go?

The answer lies in the Church. It gives us the combination that opens the door to our spiritual riches—the combination of faith and good works. The Church guards and guides us along the way that leads to the treasure—the way led by Jesus, our Savior. It invites everyone to join in service to God and to our fellowmen. In this way, we inherit new riches of the spirit that no man or circumstance can steal or destroy.

OSU Seeks High School Dropouts To Be Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University is recruiting high school drop-outs. They may become school teachers.

The experiment in teacher education, called New Dimensions, is billed by the university as the first of its kind in the country.

It is designed to secure certification as instructional specialists for men who are inner-city residents, 21 to 30 years of age and are high school drop outs.

As trainees, they will participate in a special Ohio State University curriculum planned to run two years. They will work toward a new category of certification created by the State Board of Education for such graduates.

When they complete the courses the instructors will go back to innercity schools, many to the schools where they dropped out, to help bridge the cultural gap which often develops between an innercity child and the educational experience.

The University program has created task forces from the business, government and educational communities designed to help trainees understand the program.

Object of the first year's curriculum, says the program's associate director, Robert W. Johnson, is to bring about perceivable changes within the trainee himself.

"It will address itself to his intellectual rehabilitation and the restoration of confidence within himself as an intellectual entity," he said.

He said the second year will be devoted to teacher preparation and to making opportunities for trainees to pursue areas of studying in which he is particularly interested.

After graduation, the specialists will be required to pursue studies toward a bachelor's degree.

Tuition for the trainees is paid through locally administered federal funds. The trainees will attend classes at the OSU campus here where instructors are drawn from the university faculty.

There are approximately 60,000 pieces of cut colored glass in the 53 story-telling windows of the new National Presbyterian Church and Center in Washington, D.C.

What infinite pains we take to guard our valuable possessions! Yet not all our possessions can be given protection in a safe. What about that priceless treasure which each of us possesses—our eternal happiness?

To safeguard this great treasure, where can we go?

The answer lies in the Church. It gives us the combination that opens the door to our spiritual riches—the combination of faith and good works. The Church guards and guides us along the way that leads to the treasure—the way led by Jesus, our Savior. It invites everyone to join in service to God and to our fellowmen. In this way, we inherit new riches of the spirit that no man or circumstance can steal or destroy.

Millett Fields College Cash Questions During OU Meet

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Regents Chancellor John D. Millett told a student audience Thursday night that Ohio's record in financing higher education "is poor and ought to be better."

But Millett defended the state's decision-making process in higher education Thursday night during a barrage of questions from an audience of about 2,000 at Ohio University.

At one time Millett, who was invited to speak by the Student Congress, replied, "You'll get no quarrel from me on the record of financing higher education in Ohio."

He said he does not know why the record is bad nor does he understand why the Regents and university faculties, students, administrators and trustees have not been able to present a more effective case for higher education.

Millett said the recent decision to slash state subsidies to out-of-state students resulted because "we knew we could not get all the appropriations we needed."

He added, "If I had my way we would provide for both (out-of-state as well as Ohio students) parents."

Millett was hissed several times for his answers to questions and at one point a Bowling Green State University student who said he traveled 4½ hours to hear Millett shouted, "I am sick and tired of so many evasive answers."

Transplant Patient Out Of Hospital

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Wylie Julliard, who received a new heart in a transplant operation last month, went shopping for three hours Thursday.

His mother and aunt, who accompanied him, were exhausted but he appeared fresh and strong after the trip.

Julliard, 22, was released Tuesday from Cleveland Clinic Hospital, where the transplant was performed Dec. 16, and is staying at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Walter Morrow, in suburban Parma.

He has been in and out of hospitals near his home in Babylon, Long Island, N.Y., since suffering congenital heart disease. His twin brother, Wayne, died of a similar disease last February.

Julliard's weight is up to 125 pounds from the 107 he weighed when the transplant took place.

In an interview with the Cleveland Plain Dealer Thursday night, he told of the joy he felt when he left the hospital.

"I stretched my arms as far as they would go and thought, how great it is to be alive," he said. "It's heaven." And I thought how wonderful it was to breathe again."

He said the heart transplant surgery was a big decision for him to make, but that he "wanted to live."

Julliard's mother, Mrs. Mary Capolino, said eating has been his favorite pastime since he left the hospital.

"He eats everything," she said.

'Closed' Humane Society Brings Judge's Wrath

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Probate Judge Nathan Koplin ordered Summit County Humane Officer Gilbert W. Dilley Thursday to open the Humane Society of Summit County to general membership or lose his job.

Dilley acknowledged his group's membership was restricted to a seven-man board.

His ouster for alleged nonfeasance has been demanded by John F. Simpson, president of the recently organized Summit County Humane Society. Simpson told the judge his organization has 300 members.

"I am not going to be a party to a humane officer who is part of a closed corporation act," Judge Koplin told Dilley. "The membership in this society should be open to all."

Ohio State Fair To Run 12 Days

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — This summer's Ohio State Fair again will be a 12-day affair instead of the two-week event some fair organizers had been promoting.

L. W. Burns, chairman of the Ohio Expositions Commission, said Thursday the decision to hold the fair to 12 days was reached after several concessionaires and exhibitors said they could not be ready for the Aug. 19 fair opening. The 1969 fair will open Aug. 19 and run through Labor Day.

Ohio Democrats Pick Apart Rhodes Education Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats in the Ohio General Assembly are busy picking apart and analyzing the recent report of the Governor's Task Force on Vocational and Technical Education.

The Senate minority leader, Charles J. Carney D-33 Mahoning, said in an interview he thought the report "in essence wants to make a man a factory robot."

Carney said although he agreed there needs to be more vocational and technical training, he felt the report "lacks balance."

He explained that it "over-emphasizes" this training in relation to general education.

Carney said the massive scope of the report was "a shock treatment tactic" by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"I don't think anyone could live with everything in this report if he had to," he explained. "My preliminary survey of it indicates that it goes too far, too fast and would be impossible to achieve."

Carney said he had a researcher go over the report and analyze each proposal. In an effort to outguess Rhodes, certain proposals were marked "Rhodes serious about this."

Copies were given to members of the legislature's minority party—12 Senate Democrats and 35 House Democrats.

Carney said the Democrats will probably meet next week to discuss the report.

"We're not going to oppose it for opposition's sake," he stressed. "We'll support what we like and work to change what we don't like."

The report recommended a major reorganization of Ohio's educational system with new emphasis on vocational and technical training.

It also proposed abolishing county boards of education, replacing them with county councils of education.

The county councils would have the power to levy county-wide income taxes to support employment-oriented education and to reorganize and dissolve present school districts.

The cost of implementing the report would be roughly $300 million.

Carney, regional representative of the United Steelworkers, said he has reservations about the report because of what may result from overemphasis on vocational education.

"We're more than just industrial robots in this country," he explained. "We've built the finest mass production system in the world and we've done it without vocational education. Line workers don't need vocational education."

Carney said he felt there will always be a need for assembly line workers in factories because "these jobs just can't be automated."

"The man who has the job of putting four screws in the back seat of an automobile as it comes down the line has to have more to his life," Carney said. "He has to have more than beer and the boob tube when he's off work."

Carney said the future factory worker must be taught how to think and be given basic humanities that will allow him to enrich his life away from his routine job.

"The major problem of the future for workers will be how to spend their leisure time," Carney said.

He said such an emphasis upon vocational education might result in the division of students into academic programs or vocational programs, such as in the Russian system.

"People want to be part of the American dream," he explained. "Decency. Cultural things."

Carney, eldest of 13 children who grew up in a steel suburb of Youngstown, said, "When I was a kid, I was taught that if I studied hard I had a chance to be President or even a state senator."

"If we adopted everything in that report a kid's teacher would say, 'Now if you're a good boy you can be a bricklayer when you grow up.'"

The Ohio AFL-CIO plans to take a close look at the Task Force report. Frank W. King, who recently resigned the Ohio Senate to devote all his time to his duties as state AFL-CIO president, said an executive board meeting will soon be held and "we'll definitely talk about the report." King said he agreed there should be an expansion of vocational and technical education, but doubted "if the report intends to minimize general education."

He said general education is needed "through high school because life is not only going to be that eight-hour day. I'm definitely opposed to replacing general education with vocational education."

71 Booze Permits Lifted By Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seventy-one Ohio establishments learned Thursday that they have lost their liquor licenses or have had them restricted as a result of a Ohio Supreme Court ruling last month.

The court ruled Dec. 4 that annexation of a township territory into a city does not change the local option status of the area.

Therefore, although the concerns now are located in so-called "wet" cities, 37 of them have no liquor licenses and 34 of them have licenses restricted to sales of certain alcoholic beverages because they are in areas in which local options still are in force.

The ruling is expected to have serious affect on many of the businesses involved including three Holiday Inns, three country clubs and three private clubs along with numerous bowling alleys, markets, carry-outs, taverns and restaurants.

Liquor Director Donald D. Cook said letters went out to the permit holders Wednesday. They have until Feb. 21 to close up, move, or return to handling only the type of alcoholic beverage they served prior to annexation.

Cook said the lifted permits will be held in abeyance for two years to give holders a chance to move to a wet area or for a local option vote if none has been held for four years.

The majority of the restrictions forbid sale of hard liquor, allowing 3.2 and 6 per cent beer and wine. A few permit holders are allowed to sell only 3.2-low-power-beer.

A unique restriction in Athens forbids sale of 3.2 beer at the Ohio University Inn but allows 6 per cent beer, wine and liquor. Many of the inn's customers are students younger than 21, and legal age for drinking anything stronger than low-power beer.

One of the bowling alleys which lost its license was Imperial Lanes in Canton, subject of the Supreme Court ruling. The city of Canton filed the original suit against the bowling alley.

Firms affected by the ruling and their current liquor sales status:

Athens — Moman Corp., Ohio University Inn, Athens, six per cent beer, wine and liquor Piz-pa Hut of Ohio Inc., Athens, dry.

Fairfield — Tiki Bowling Lanes Inc., Rt. 5, Lancaster, 3.2 beer and six per cent beer.

Greene — Harris Lanes Inc., Yellow Springs, dry Bo Mi Sol Inc., Xenia, six per cent beer, Wine Cunningham's Markets Inc., Xenia IGA Market, six per cent beer carry-out Nick Malavazos, Sa-Ha-Do, Xenia, six per cent beer, wine William J. Robinson, Castaways Club, Xenia, six per cent beer, wine.

Mercer — C. H. Ayers & Sons Inc., Poor House, Celina, 3.2 beer, six per cent beer, wine Plaza Bowling Lanes, Celina, 3.2 beer, six per cent beer, wine VFW Post 5713, Celina, 3.2 beer, wine.

Warren — Lebanon Lanes Inc., Lebanon, 3.2 beer, six per cent beer, wine Houston Motel and Restaurant, Mason, 3.2 beer Alma and Arthur L. Eldred, Bikini Lounge, Mason, 3.2 beer.

Judy Garland Has Trouble With Audience

LONDON (AP) — Judy Garland was booed and empty cigarette packs, rolls and crackers were thrown on the stage after she showed up an hour and 20 minutes late for an 11 p.m. Thursday nightclub performance.

Miss Garland sang three numbers despite the boos and heckling, but when a young man jumped on the stage and demanded that she apologize for being late, she stormed off, saying, "That's it. I have had enough."

She is in the midst of a five-week engagement at the Talk of the Town nightclub.

A spokesman for the club said, "Judy has had a bout of flu and although she was late she was determined to carry on with the show. But she did not apologize when she went on stage."

Kent President Hits School Plan

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Recent state proposals affecting higher education were criticized Thursday by the president of Kent State University and the school's board of trustees.

Speaking at a trustees' meeting, Dr. Robert I. White, KSU president, said the general fee increase proposed by the Ohio Board of Regents represents "a complete reversal of statements made previously" in terms of holding down student costs.

He also took exception to proposals calling for sharp reductions in the number of out-of-state students and shift of control of university branches to five university college districts.

Tentative Contract Set In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — A tentative agreement was reached Thursday in a wage dispute that triggered a three-day strike last week by the city's non-uniformed workers and is subject to ratification.

"The union hopes to be able to present the proposal to the membership by Sunday," said Al Van Hagen, official of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Republic Steel Earnings Rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Increases in earnings and sales last year compared to 1967 have been reported by Republic Steel Corp.

The nation's third largest steel producer reported Thursday that net income for 1968 totaled $78,153,079, or $4.93 per share of common stock. This compared to $75,179,648, or $4.75 per share in 1967.

FAVORS $200,000—Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-IL, minor-party leader, says in Washington that he fully approves doubling the president's salary to $200,000. Dirksen said that after taxes, the raise would be about $23,000.

Warren Mayor, Police To Meet

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Raymond Schryver said he would meet today with representatives of the safety forces who have been calling in sick since Sunday.

The mayor, who has refused to meet with spokesmen for the Warren Police and Firemen's Association, said the meeting will be "to inform them of our position on the issues."

The city has been understaffed since the sick calls started over demands by the safety forces for more money and improved fringe benefits.

Prague Full Of Students; Get Warning

PRAGUE (AP)—Student delegations began arriving in Prague today for memorial ceremonies honoring Jan Palach and his suicide by fire to protest the Soviet occupation.

Fearing violent demonstrations that might provoke new intervention by the Russians, the Czech government warned the students to be on guard against "irresponsible elements" that could cause trouble.

Student leaders said unrest was widespread among the young, but they stressed that the memorial ceremonies would be orderly and dignified.

They reported demonstrations in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, were suppressed by the authorities and others in Brno and Ostrava were interfered with. They said students at a teachers' college in Ostrava occupied a school building.

Palach, who set himself afire Jan. 16, died Sunday. His closed coffin will be on view today and Saturday, with a private funeral afterward.

Wreaths and condolence telegrams piled up at the philosophy school where Palach was a student. However, hunger strikers were gone from the fountain where he set himself afire. The Interior Ministry denied rumors that they had been arrested.

It was announced that a sixth Czechoslovak since Palach had set himself afire in Levice, Slovakia. None of the six has died, and authorities said none had political motives for their acts. All had histories of suicide attempts.

Carney, eldest of 13 children who grew up in a steel suburb of Youngstown, said, "When I was a kid, I was taught that if I studied hard I had a chance to be President or even a state senator."

"If we adopted everything in that report a kid's teacher would say, 'Now if you're a good boy you can be a bricklayer when you grow up.'"

The Ohio AFL-CIO plans to take a close look at the Task Force report. Frank W. King, who recently resigned the Ohio Senate to devote all his time to his duties as state AFL-CIO president, said an executive board meeting will soon be held and "we'll definitely talk about the report."

King said he agreed there should be an expansion of vocational and technical education, but doubted "if the report intends to minimize general education."

He said general education is needed "through high school because life is not only going to be that eight-hour day. I'm definitely opposed to replacing general education with vocational education."

71 Booze Permits Lifted By Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seventy-one Ohio establishments learned Thursday that they have lost their liquor licenses or have had them restricted as a result of a Ohio Supreme Court ruling last month.

The court ruled Dec. 4 that annexation of a township territory into a city does not change the local option status of the area.

Therefore, although the concerns now are located in so-called "wet" cities, 37 of them have no liquor licenses and 34 of them have licenses restricted to sales of certain alcoholic beverages because they are in areas in which local options still are in force.

The ruling is expected to have serious affect on many of the businesses involved including three Holiday Inns, three country clubs and three private clubs along with numerous bowling alleys, markets, carry-outs, taverns and restaurants.

Liquor Director Donald D. Cook said letters went out to the permit holders Wednesday. They have until Feb. 21 to close up, move, or return to handling only the type of alcoholic beverage they served prior to annexation.

Cook said the lifted permits will be held in abeyance for two years to give holders a chance to move to a wet area or for a local option vote if none has been held for four years.

The majority of the restrictions forbid sale of hard liquor, allowing 3.2 and 6 per cent beer and wine. A few permit holders are allowed to sell only 3.2-low-power-beer.

A unique restriction in Athens forbids sale of 3.2 beer at the Ohio University Inn but allows 6 per cent beer, wine and liquor. Many of the inn's customers are students younger than 21, and legal age for drinking anything stronger than low-power beer.

One of the bowling alleys which lost its license was Imperial Lanes in Canton, subject of the Supreme Court ruling. The city of Canton filed the original suit against the bowling alley.

Firms affected by the ruling and their current liquor sales status:

Athens — Moman Corp., Ohio University Inn, Athens, six per cent beer, wine and liquor Piza Hut of Ohio Inc., Athens, dry.

Fairfield—Tiki Bowling Lanes Inc., Rt. 5, Lancaster, 3.2 beer and six per cent beer.

Greene — Harris Lanes Inc., Yellow Springs, dry Bo Mi Sol Inc., Xenia, six per cent beer, Wine Cunningham's Markets Inc., Xenia IGA Market, six per cent beer carry-out Nick Malavazos, Sa-Ha-Do, Xenia, six per cent beer, wine William J. Robinson, Castaways Club, Xenia, six per cent beer, wine.

Mercer — C. H. Ayers & Sons Inc., Poor House, Celina, 3.2 beer, six per cent beer, wine Plaza Bowling Lanes, Celina, 3.2 beer, six per cent beer, wine VFW Post 5713, Celina, 3.2 beer, wine.

Warren — Lebanon Lanes Inc., Lebanon, 3.2 beer, six per cent beer Houston Motel and Restaurant, Mason, 3.2 beer Alma and Arthur L. Eldred, Bikini Lounge, Mason, 3.2 beer.

Judy Garland Has Trouble With Audience

LONDON (AP) — Judy Garland was booed and empty cigarette packs, rolls and crumpled papers were thrown on the stage after she showed up an hour and 20 minutes late for an 11 p.m. Thursday nightclub performance.

Miss Garland sang three numbers despite the boos and heckling, but when a young man jumped on the stage and demanded that she apologize for being late, she stormed off, saying, "That's it. I have had enough."

She is in the midst of a five-week engagement at the Talk of the Town nightclub.

A spokesman for the club said, "Judy has had a bout of flu and although she was late she was determined to carry on with the show. But she did not apologize when she went on stage."

Kent President Hits School Plan

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Recent state proposals affecting higher education were criticized Thursday by the president of Kent State University and the school's board of trustees.

Speaking at a trustees' meeting, Dr. Robert I. White, KSU president, said the general fee increase proposed by the Ohio Board of Regents represents "a complete reversal of statements made previously" in terms of holding down student costs.

He also took exception to proposals calling for sharp reductions in the number of out-of-state students and shift of control of university branches to five university college districts.

Tentative Contract Set In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — A tentative agreement was reached Thursday in a wage dispute that triggered a three-day strike last week by the city's non-uniformed workers and is subject to ratification.

"The union hopes to be able to present the proposal to the membership by Sunday," said Al Van Hagen, official of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Republic Steel Earnings Rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Increases in earnings and sales last year compared to 1967 have been reported by Republic Steel Corp.

The nation's third largest steel producer reported Thursday that net income for 1968 totaled $78,153,079, or $4.93 per share of common stock. This compared to $75,179,948, or $4.75 per share in 1967.

Plane Crash Ruling Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Transportation Safety Board has blamed bad weather and pilot inexperience for a small plane crash near Liberty, Ind., Jan. 21, 1968, that killed two Cincinnati area men.

Gordon A. Copeland, 24, of Groesbeck, a Cincinnati suburb and Joseph L. Mangus, 42, Middletown, Ohio were fatally hurt in the crash of a Cessna 172.

In a report released Thursday, the NTSB said inadequate flight preparation and attempted operation beyond experience, and low ceiling and icing conditions combined to help cause the accident.

Its findings indicated that the pilot, Mangus, was not cleared for instrument flight when he took off from the Richmond, Ind., Municipal Airport for a return flight to Middletown.

The plane crashed about a mile from Liberty after the pilot radioed Dayton, Ohio, that he was coping with "a tremendous fog."

ROTARY — "A Decent Burial" was the title of the talk given by Dave Lewis, Columbus, at Circleville Rotary Club meeting noon Thursday at the L-K Restaurant. He spoke on successful landfill operations through the United States.

Prague Full Of Students; Get Warning

PRAGUE (AP)—Student delegations began arriving in Prague today for memorial ceremonies honoring Jan Palach and his suicide by fire to protest the Soviet occupation.

Fearing violent demonstrations that might provoke new intervention by the Russians, the Czech government warned the students to be on guard against "irresponsible elements" that could cause trouble.

Student leaders said unrest was widespread among the young, but they stressed that the memorial ceremonies would be orderly and dignified.

They reported demonstrations in Bratislava, the capital of Slovakia, were suppressed by the authorities and others in Brno and Ostrava were interfered with. They said students at a teachers' college in Ostrava occupied a school building.

Palach, who set himself afire Jan. 16, died Sunday. His closed coffin will be on view today and Saturday, with a private funeral afterward.

Wreaths and condolence telegrams piled up at the philosophy school where Palach was a student. However, hunger strikers were gone from the fountain where he set himself afire. The Interior Ministry denied rumors that they had been arrested.

It was announced that a sixth Czechoslovak since Palach had set himself afire in Levice, Slovakia. None of the six has died, and authorities said none had political motives for their acts. All had histories of suicide attempts.

Yost Takes Over As U.S. Chief Delegate To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — America's new chief delegate to the United Nations presented his credentials Thursday and told newsmen he is sure President Nixon's policy toward the Middle East will "take full account of the interests" of all countries in the region.

Charles W. Yost met with more than 125 newsmen after calling on Secretary-General U. Thant. He said there is no U.S. decision yet on what to do about France's week-old proposal for a meeting on the Middle East by the Security Council delegates from the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France.

He said, however, that the Big Four always have an obvious interest in "taking perhaps some more positive action to push for a settlement in the area."

He added that he was sure the United States would want to keep the matter within the framework of the United Nations, the council's 1967 resolution for an Arab-Israeli settlement and the efforts of U.N. Special Representative Gunnar Jarring of Sweden to get such a settlement.

Jimmy Mack Leads PBA Invitational

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer-bowler Jimmy Mack of Dover, N. J., moved into today's semifinals of the Professional Bowlers Association $60,000 Showboat Invitational leading a field of 16 after averaging 227 a game.

Mack finished Thursday with a 24-game total of 5448.

Vern Downing of San Francisco was the closest competitor with 5380. Mike McGrath, a lefthander from El Cerritos, Calif., who led after the opening round Wednesday, dropped back to third place with 5357.

State ace Dick Ricketts, doesn't appear to have the size to cope with East. The Bulldogs tallest operator is 6-5 Pat Beasley, 12.3 shooter but a strong rebounder.

Hart's major concern is containing Beasley and South's accurate outside shooting game, paced by 5-9 Brad Hoffman, hitting almost 15 a game. South boasts good offensive balance with the other starters contributing their share.

Stan Dixon, 6-0, is averaging 11.7, 6-2 Charles Hayes, 7.8 and 5-10 Terry Holliman, 9.9.

"We've got to keep them off the boards," Ricketts says. Hart calls South "a complete ball club. They shoot well and have good speed."

South also has two other assets that could prove significant if the big upset comes off. The Bulldogs appear more tenacious on defense and they'll be playing on their home floor.

Tigers have prevailed in 56 of their last 57 starts, impressive credentials for Coach Bob Hart to be toting around.

Columbus schools have dominated the state basketball picture in recent years with four championships in the last six seasons. East won in 1963, South in 1965, Linden in 1967 and East again last year.

The Tigers are paced by a pair of 6-foot-6 holdovers, Ed Ratliff and Nick Conner. Hart calls them the best duo on one team anywhere in the country. He could be right.

Ratliff carries a 27-point pe

East also is bolstered by 6-0 Dwight Lamar, an All-City transfer from North, who is averaging 16.5. The other starters are 6-0 Roy Hickman, 11.5, and 5-9 Larry Walker, the club's playmaker.

Jimmy Mack Leads PBA Invitational

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer-bowler Jimmy Mack of Dover, N. J., moved into today's semifinals of the Professional Bowlers Association $60,000 Showboat Invitational leading a field of 16 after averaging 227 a game.

Mack finished Thursday with a 24-game total of 5448.

Vern Downing of San Francisco was the closest competitor with 5380. Mike McGrath, a lefthander from El Cerritos, Calif., who led after the opening round Wednesday, dropped back to third place with 5357.

State ace Dick Ricketts, doesn't appear to have the size to cope with East. The Bulldogs tallest operator is 6-5 Pat Beasley, 12.3 shooter but a strong rebounder.

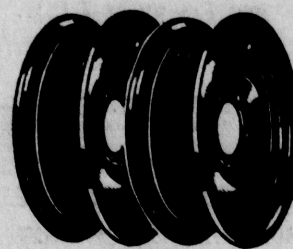

Hart's major concern is containing Beasley and South's accurate outside shooting game, paced by 5-9 Brad Hoffman, hitting almost 15 a game. South boasts good offensive balance with the other starters contributing their share.

Stan Dixon, 6-0, is averaging 11.7, 6-2 Charles Hayes, 7.8 and 5-10 Terry Holliman, 9.9.

"We've got to keep them off the boards," Ricketts says. Hart calls South "a complete ball club. They shoot well and have good speed."

South also has two other assets that could prove significant if the big upset comes off. The Bulldogs appear more tenacious on defense and they'll be playing on their home floor.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS
Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, the Clerk of the Village of Williamsport, herein referred to as the Village, in the County of Pickaway, Ohio, at his office, the address of which is Williamsport, Ohio, until 8:00 o'clock p.m. EST, on the 3rd day of February, 1969, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of bonds of the Village, in the aggregate amount of $68,000, authorized by Ordinance No. 2-589, passed on the 6th day of January, 1969.

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of March, 1969, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first day of March and September of each year beginning September 1, 1969, at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6 per cent, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent to a multiple thereof.
Said bonds mature as follows: $3,000 on the first day of March in each of the years 1971 to 1980, both inclusive, and $4,000 on the first day of March in each of the years 1981 to 1989, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of enlarging and improving the Municipal Water Supply and Distribution System by the development of a well field, in, on, and about the lands owned, constructed and acquisition of, and distribution facilities and equipment, and to retire a note heretofore issued for said purpose.

Said bonds are payable at The Second National Bank in the City of Circleville, Ohio, and are supported by limited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. The expense of delivery within the State of Ohio shall not be considered in determining the highest bidder. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by a cash cashier's or official's check, or a certified check on a solvent bank (other than the bidder) payable to the Village, or any combination thereof in the amount of one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice, or forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not fulfilled.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Water System Improvement Bonds."
The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Bricker, Evatt, Barton & Eckler, Bond Attorneys, Columbus, Ohio, whose unqualified approving opinion will be furnished by the Village to the successful bidder without expense. A complete Transcript of Proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Village, together with the usual closing papers.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his deposit which accompanied his bid shall be returned without interest.
It is contemplated that the bond-issuing authority of the Village will meet at 8:00 o'clock P.M., on the 3rd day of February, 1969 to consider said bids and make an award. The bonds shall be delivered for payment within the State of Ohio to the purchaser, or to a bank designated by the purchaser, without charge. If delivered at a place outside the State of Ohio, the purchaser shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Village shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds, either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.
If such notice has not been given or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcripts, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the Village shall yet have been made, to purchase such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned or to his office during business hours written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.
The right is reserved to reject bids.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS
Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, the Clerk of the Village of Williamsport, herein referred to as the Village, in the County of Pickaway, Ohio, at his office, the address of which is Williamsport, Ohio, until 8:00 o'clock p.m. EST, on the 3rd day of February, 1969, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read for the purchase of bonds of the Village, in the aggregate amount of $86,000, authorized by Ordinance No. 2-69, passed on the 6th day of January, 1969.

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of March, 1969, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first day of March and September of each year, beginning September 1, 1969, at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not less than 6 per cent provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent to a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows: $3,000 on the first day of March in each of the years 1971 to 1980, both inclusive, and $4,000 on the first day of March in each of the years 1981 to 1989, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of enlarging and improving the Municipal Water Supply and Distribution System by the development of a well field, including drilling wells and the construction and acquisition of appurtenant pumping, treatment and distribution facilities and equipment, and to retire a note heretofore issued for said purpose.

Said bonds are payable at The Second National Bank in the City of Circleville, Ohio, and are supported by limited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. The expense of delivery within the State of Ohio shall not be considered in determining the highest bidder. If each of two or more bids is the same bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by a cash or certified check on a solvent bank (other than the bidder) payable to the Village, or any combination thereof in the amount of one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice, forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not fulfilled.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Water System Improvement Bonds."
The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Bricker, Evert, Barton & Eckler, Bond Attorneys, Columbus, Ohio, whose unqualified approving opinion will be furnished by the Village to the successful bidder without expense. A complete Transcript of Proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Village, together with the usual closing papers.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his deposit which accompanied his bid shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the bond-issuing authority of the Village will meet at 8:00 o'clock P.M., on the 3rd day of February, 1969, to consider said bids and make an award. The bonds shall be delivered for payment within the State of Ohio to the purchaser, or to a bank designated by the purchaser, without charge. If delivered at a place outside the State of Ohio, the purchaser shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Village shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not less than 6 per cent provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent to a multiple thereof.

If such notice has not been given or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcripts, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter to his office during business hours written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.
